Re : Director of Financial Reporting & Controls

Bringing financial reporting, governance and controls together across three insurance brands, Ageas, esure and Saga, while strengthening the control environment during a period of transformation, is exactly the kind of mandate where technical depth and delivery discipline both matter.

At CNP Assurances, I rebuilt investment accounting production under Solvency II constraints for a 350bn€ book, redesigning the sub-ledger and reconciliation processes and delivering on an 18-month timeline with no slippage. That work sat directly at the intersection of IFRS 9, Solvency II reporting and closing controls, the same triangle this role sits in. Separately, I led SimCorp Dimension implementations end-to-end, from design through cutover, including UAT and data migration, in environments where legal entity reporting and audit scrutiny left no room for error. I've also run closing redesign and controls strengthening programs where the brief was to cut reporting cycle time while keeping Audit Committee-level accuracy, which maps closely to the first-line testing and governance ownership this role asks for.

My regulatory reporting track record is built on ACPR and French GAAP/IFRS environments rather than PRA/FCA and HMRC engagement, and I've worked as an independent consultant rather than as a permanent in-house Director.

Worth a call to see where the fit is strongest.
