Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to apply for the Lead Business Consultant role in Data & Communication at SimCorp's Vienne office.

I bring 25 years of financial services experience—exclusively in insurance and finance—with a track record of translating complex technical requirements into business outcomes. What SimCorp is building in data management (integration, warehousing, system operations) aligns directly with my core strength: bridging the gap between business stakeholder expectations and technical delivery. I've spent my career exactly at that intersection, working with CFO offices, regulatory teams, and IT to deliver solutions that stick.

In my last two years as interim Finance Manager at a major insurer, I led the redesign of a regulatory reporting infrastructure serving 12 business units. That meant designing data pipelines, standardizing processes across divisions, and coaching teams on system adoption—essentially the same DNA as your Data Management Service Line. Before that, I managed PMO and AMOA delivery for a €40M transformation programme covering front-to-back office processes. I understand how knowledge flows (or doesn't) across a matrix organization, and how to make it work.

I'm equally at home in configuration detail and C-suite alignment. The three-week Dimension Academy appeals to me precisely because I learn by doing, and I'll contribute immediately to your consulting team.

One honest note: I've been an independent consultant for five years. I'm genuinely looking for a role with institutional depth and long-term team ownership—this position offers both. I'm ready to commit.

I'm available to discuss how my background fits your needs. You can reach me at +33 6 64 89 09 43 or xro@xavier-robitaille.com.

Regards,

Xavier Robitaille
