

Dear Hiring Team,

Twenty-five years in insurance and finance consulting give me a specific advantage here: I read both the business and the systems language fluently. CapIT's need for a senior consultant who can drive SI transformation and lead a team isn't a gap I'm filling—it's where I've built my entire career.

I've spent the last decade as an independent consultant solving exactly this type of problem. When a major French insurer needed to integrate regulatory reporting into a legacy SI and reorganize their finance operations around it, I led the program from strategy definition through implementation, managing a cross-functional team and reporting directly to the CFO. The result: reporting cycle cut by 40%, control framework redesigned, three downstream systems decommissioned. That's the kind of "inattendu mais époustouflant" outcome you're describing.

What I bring isn't theoretical. I've managed large-scale delivery under real regulatory pressure, advised on SI choices that balanced cost, compliance, and operational reality, and built credibility with both C-suite and technical teams because I don't simplify—I clarify. I've also hired, coached, and scaled small consulting teams. The conviction piece is real: I've defended unpopular decisions when the data supported them and shifted direction when the evidence changed.

One honest thing: I've been freelance-structured for the last five years, and CapIT offers something I'm genuinely looking for—a role with real management depth and the ability to shape strategy at scale. The move to CDI with this profile makes sense.

I'm ready to talk through how my experience maps to your clients and your team. You can reach me at +33 6 64 89 09 43 or xro@xavier-robitaille.com.
