Re : Insurance Financial Advisory Manager

Abrivia's Insurance FAAS team is scaling fast to meet demand from insurers across Ireland and the US, and this contract needs someone who can lead financial reporting and advisory delivery from day one, not ramp up into it.

I have spent 25 years in insurance and in finance, and the technical accounting core of this role is where I have built most of my track record. At CNP, I automated the projected financial production across asset classes (P&L, cash flows) and the Solvency II investment reporting: €350bn in assets, SimCorp Dimension from design to go-live, delivered in 18 months. At Coface, I rolled out IFRS 9 in stages over four years: successive POCs, ECL methodology, accounting schemes, UAT, coordination with the depositary bank CACEIS. That work sits squarely in the finance transformation and large-scale implementation territory this posting calls out as advantageous, and it was delivered alongside teams of up to 16 people, not as a solo technical exercise.

Client-facing delivery is the other half of what I bring. As senior programme director at Clearwater, I ran several parallel implementations of a SaaS R to R solution, with monthly sponsor committees at executive level and consolidated tracking of deliverables, milestones and resources on Monday.com, including for the Luxembourg client Luxempart. That work was fully remote and hybrid by design, which is how I have operated for years now, so joining Abrivia's hybrid model in Dublin fits directly into how I already work.

I operate as an independent consultant today. Nevertheless, I am perfectly open to a permanent role, directly or after an initial engagement period, and a 3-6 month contract of this kind is exactly the format I am set up for.

I would be happy to discuss how this experience applies to the insurance clients Abrivia is growing with across Ireland and the US.

Best regards,

Xavier Robitaille
