I bring 25 years in insurance and finance to this Group Reporting Manager role—all of it spent building and fixing what matters: consolidation processes, IFRS compliance, and multi-entity reporting under pressure. This FTC sits squarely in my core expertise.

I've coordinated complex group closes across jurisdictions, managed IFRS consolidation for entities spanning multiple geographies and regulatory regimes, and strengthened reporting controls when accuracy and speed both mattered. My recent work includes restructuring the closing calendar and reconciliation framework for a mid-cap insurance group, which cut month-end variance analysis time by 40% and caught control gaps before external audit. I'm fluent in the tension between technical accounting rigor and operational delivery—and comfortable working inside that space.

What makes this role fit: I understand reinsurance group dynamics. I've prepped audit packs, managed external auditor queries, and supported board-level reporting. I know the tools (Excel at an advanced level, familiarity with both legacy and modern systems). I work well reporting into a Head of Financial Reporting and can operate autonomously on consolidation detail while keeping sight of group priorities.

I'm currently independent, which means I bring no organizational drag and adapt quickly to your systems and tone. The 12-month structure works well for me. I'll hit the ground on day one knowing what a 3-month FTC timeline demands.

Let's talk about how I can stabilize and improve your group reporting cycle. I'm available to discuss the role and your priorities.
