I'm a senior insurance consultant with 25 years deep in the sector—underwriting, operations, finance, regulatory compliance. I've spent the last decade leading change and transformation programmes, which is exactly what this role demands.

My track record speaks directly to your brief. I've redesigned operating models for insurers managing £2B+ in premium, embedded process improvements that cut handling time by 35%, and guided teams through complex transformations across General Insurance, Life, and MGA structures. I know the value chain cold—underwriting through claims, finance through compliance—and I know how to move people through change without breaking momentum.

At Deloitte, I'd add immediate value. I don't need to learn the insurance landscape; I need to apply it. I work hybrid naturally (been independent for years), and the 12-month initial contract length suits my model perfectly. I'm Inside IR35 compliant as a freelancer, and I bring my own toolkit—stakeholder mapping, change readiness diagnostics, governance frameworks—that accelerate adoption.

The honest gap: I'm not staff. I'm a surgeon, not a resident. That means you get someone who ships results and doesn't need hand-holding, but I'm not building a career at Deloitte. You get expertise and delivery at pace. If that's what you need on this engagement, I'm the right fit.

Let's talk. I'm available for a call this week if the profile works.
