I bring 25 years in insurance and finance—the kind of depth that matters when technical complexity, regulatory pressure, and execution speed collide. I know how to move money, manage risk reporting, and keep stakeholders aligned across Finance, Actuariat, IT, and Operations. That's not common.

My last two years have been split between interim CFO office roles and PMO leadership. At one insurer, I rebuilt their closing process across three entities—cut month-end variance by 60%, dropped error rates, and gave the finance team back three days of manual work each cycle. At another, I led a regulatory reporting transformation that took a team from 15 people doing compliance work manually to 8, with zero audit findings. Real impact, real numbers.

I work best on missions where clarity and discipline unlock value—refactoring operating models, designing controls that actually stick, fixing process bottlenecks before they become crises. I'm also honest about constraints: I'm built for interim and project work, not permanent roles. I deliver focused, move fast, and hand over clean.

I'd like to explore what you're solving for. If the brief involves insurance, finance transformation, or regulatory delivery, there's a strong chance I can add immediate value.

Let's talk.
