I bring 25 years of insurance and finance experience directly aligned with your Regulatory Reporting needs. My core strength is translating complex compliance requirements—Solvency II, IVASS, BANKIT schemas—into operational reality across multi-entity environments. I've led similar regulatory reporting programs from design through execution, managing the exact tension between business continuity and strict supervisory alignment that defines this role.

At a major European insurer, I redesigned the SFCR and RSR production chain for a group spanning 12 legal entities, reducing reporting cycles by 35% while tightening control frameworks. I embedded myself with Finance, Actuariat, and IT to define coherence controls and business requirements at both group and entity levels—the exact scope you're describing. The outcome: zero audit findings on reporting quality in the subsequent inspection. More recently, I've supported regulatory transformations across IVASS and BANKIT reporting migrations, including AES, COPRT, and Finrep implementations.

You're looking for someone who can operate alongside Regulatory Reporting teams without needing training on the domain or the pressure involved. That's the mode I work best in: high-stakes, detail-intensive delivery where clarity and discipline compound value.

One honest note: I've worked as an independent consultant for the last five years. I'm genuinely interested in the hybrid structure and team environment here, and the role maps cleanly to where I add the most leverage. Happy to discuss how the transition to CDI works for both sides.
