Re : Manager in Fund Accounting

Managing fund accounting for a diverse client book while coordinating with auditors, depositaries and regulators across multiple GAAPs isn't a job you learn on the fly. It requires someone who has already sat inside that pressure, closed the books, and answered to the regulator directly.

At CNP Assurances, I rebuilt investment accounting production under Solvency II constraints across 350 billion euros in assets, delivering the new process in 18 months and on schedule, with full auditability for the ACPR. That work meant reconciling French GAAP and IFRS output on the same ledger, the exact multi-GAAP problem this role asks a manager to own. Earlier, I ran GL conversions and migration projects between accounting standards, including data cleanup and OD construction through VBA, so the transition from legacy provider data to a clean opening balance is familiar ground, not a theoretical exercise. I've also spent years as the primary contact for auditors and regulators on regulatory filings, managing deadlines that didn't move regardless of how complex the underlying accounting got, and mentoring teams through the same high-pressure periods this position flags around L1 and L2 accountants.

I haven't worked inside alternative investment fund administration specifically. My multi-GAAP and closing experience runs through insurance and asset management rather than fund structures.

Remote and hybrid coordination is standard practice for me, most recently at Clearwater, so working with a distributed team under a delegation framework wouldn't require any adjustment. Happy to talk through where I'd add the most value in Luxembourg.
