Re : Senior Transformation Program Lead

Alter Domus runs its Transformation Office as an execution engine: discrete initiatives owned end to end, from diagnostic through design, implementation and BAU handover, across Global Process Owners, Client Delivery Centers, Product and Technology. That mandate, structuring ambiguous problems and driving them to a clean handover in a regulated, client-centric environment, is exactly where I want to put 25 years of experience in insurance and in finance to work.

At Clearwater Analytics, as senior programme director, I ran several parallel implementations of an R to R SaaS solution, with monthly sponsor committees at general management level and consolidated tracking of deliverables, milestones and resources on a dedicated tool (Monday.com), including for a Luxembourg client, Luxempart. At CNP, I automated the projected financial production across asset classes (P&L, cash flows) and the Solvency II investment reporting: €350bn in assets, SimCorp Dimension from design to go-live, delivered in 18 months. At Coface, I rolled out IFRS 9 in stages over four years: successive POCs, ECL methodology, accounting schemes, UAT, coordination with the depository CACEIS, alongside building a Data Warehouse for investments (fields, table structure, input and output controls). At Primexis, I built the insurance business unit from scratch: 20 people, 10 clients, €3m in revenue, and sat on the executive committee.

Across these missions, my project teams ranged from 10 to 15 people, and at Coface I directly managed a team of 16. Leading a small team of business analysts while reporting program status to senior leadership is the same discipline, applied at a different scale.

I operate as an independent consultant today. Nevertheless, I am perfectly open to a permanent role, directly or after an initial engagement period.

I would be happy to discuss how this experience maps onto Alter Domus's transformation agenda in Vilnius.

Best regards,
