Re : Interim Finance Manager

This role sits at the intersection of business-as-usual delivery and transformation, with M&A activity running in parallel and the finance function expected to hold the line while the wider organisation changes. That combination, protecting monthly reporting and controls while supporting integration work, is where I focus.

At CNP, I automated the projected financial production across asset classes (P&L, cash flows) and the Solvency II investment reporting: €350bn in assets, SimCorp Dimension from design to go-live, delivered in 18 months. That work sat directly alongside statutory and prudential reporting cycles, under the same pressure to keep BAU running while a system changed underneath it. At Coface, I rolled out IFRS 9 in stages over four years: successive POCs, ECL methodology, accounting schemes, UAT, coordination with the depositary CACEIS. I also built the investment Data Warehouse there, defining fields, table structure, and input and output controls, the kind of control and process work this role asks for on the balance sheet assurance side. More recently, as senior programme director at Clearwater, I ran several parallel SaaS R to R implementations, including the Luxembourg client Luxempart, with monthly sponsor committees at executive level and consolidated tracking of deliverables, milestones, and resources on Monday.com.

Reinsurance and reporting under change are not new territory for me: four years at SCOR, two of them as chief transformation officer of the investment function, plus reinsurance entities at AXA and in run-off. Hybrid working with three days in the office is familiar ground; the Clearwater programmes ran the same way, and I am comfortable managing stakeholders and deliverables across that split.

I operate as an independent consultant today. Nevertheless, I am perfectly open to a permanent role, directly or after an initial engagement period. As a contractor who is a non-UK Tax resident, based overseas, IR35 does not apply to me.

I would be happy to discuss how this experience applies to the reporting and audit cycle during the transformation period.

Best regards,
