Re : Head of Change

Broaden's client has tripled its book this year and now needs someone to turn change from a support function into a strategic capability across underwriting, claims, operations, and technology. That kind of scaling pressure, inside an FCA-regulated MGA, is exactly the environment where I add the most value.

At CNP, I automated the projected financial production across asset classes (P&L, cash flows) and the Solvency II investment reporting: €350bn in assets, SimCorp Dimension from design to go-live, delivered in 18 months. That included direct engagement with executive sponsors and governance structures similar to what this role requires with your Director of Operations and senior leadership.

At Coface, I rolled out IFRS 9 in stages over four years: successive POCs, ECL methodology, accounting schemes, UAT, coordination with the depositary CACEIS. I also built the investment Data Warehouse from the ground up (fields, table structure, input and output controls) and led a team of 16 people. That combination, regulatory change plus data infrastructure plus team leadership, maps directly onto what you're describing for the Head of Change mandate.

As senior programme director at Clearwater, I ran several parallel SaaS R to R implementations, including for the Luxembourg client Luxempart, with monthly sponsor committees at executive level and consolidated tracking of deliverables, milestones, and resources on Monday.com. That mission was fully remote, and remote governance at that level of stakeholder complexity is a working mode I know well.

At SCOR, I spent four years, two of them as chief transformation officer of the investment function, which is where I built the muscle for aligning finance, technology, and operational teams around a single change roadmap.

Certified Generative AI Primer (Vanderbilt, 2026) and GenAI for Account Executives (Yale, 2026), I now automate most of my own operations through AI agents under Claude or GPT, which is the kind of process simplification your team is looking to embed.

I operate as an independent consultant today. Nevertheless, I am perfectly open to a permanent role, directly or after an initial engagement period. As a contractor who is a non-UK Tax resident, based overseas, IR35 does not apply to me.

I would be happy to discuss how this experience translates into building your Change function from its current stage.

Best regards,
