Re : Chief Acceleration Officer

Building a Global Acceleration Office capable of proving measurable value on transformation spend, across 8,500 people and a 55,000-strong partner network, is as much a governance challenge as a strategic one.

I've spent 25 years inside that exact intersection: finance, actuarial, IT, risk, and delivery pressure, all in insurance and asset management. At CNP, I rebuilt the investment accounting production line under Solvency II constraints, 350 billion euros of assets under management, delivered in 18 months, on time, with the auxiliary ledger and control framework the regulator expected. On SimCorp Dimension and Clearwater Analytics implementations, I ran the full cycle, from cahier des charges to UAT to cutover, coordinating finance, IT, and actuarial teams that rarely agree on priorities, and getting them to a single production date. Where programs had stalled, I took over the specifications, rebuilt the governance around them, and cleared suspense accounts and reconciliation backlogs sitting untouched for years, restoring the reporting cadence the business needed.

I haven't run a €75m+ transformation budget at C-suite level or sat on an executive committee steering enterprise-wide change; my track record is in leading the delivery underneath that layer, not the board seat above it.

Worth a conversation if that distinction still fits what you're building.
