

Xavier Robitaille · xro@xavier-robitaille.com · +33 6 64 89 09 43

I bring 25 years of finance and insurance transformation experience—exactly what Deloitte's Finance Transformation team needs to deliver impact for complex multinational clients. My background sits at the intersection of ERP/EPM implementation, operating model redesign, and PMO governance—the core activities your role demands.

Over the past decade, I've led similar initiatives: designing and implementing finance process transformations across insurance and banking sectors, managing stakeholder alignment between CFO offices and IT teams, and overseeing system implementations that improved closing efficiency by 40% and reduced finance headcount by 15% through automation. I've worked hands-on with SAP and Oracle EPM solutions in large, regulated environments where accuracy and compliance are non-negotiable. I understand the complexity of advising C-suite on economic performance management while executing technical solutions in the background.

I'm currently independent (Expert Zone Advisory SAS), which means I deliver with urgency and ownership—I don't hide behind process. I'm also fluent in Italian and comfortable with the Milan/Rome hybrid setup. The main shift here is moving from freelance advisory to a structured role within a firm, which I'm actively seeking because I want the depth that comes from staying with clients through full program delivery cycles and building a team around complex transformations.

I'd welcome a conversation about how I can accelerate your Finance Transformation practice's delivery capability in Italy and beyond.