I bring 25 years of insurance and finance expertise—rare because I combine deep technical knowledge with operational delivery discipline and the ability to align Finance, Actuariat, IT, and Risk stakeholders. I solve problems at the intersection of regulatory complexity, technical constraints, and execution pressure, where clarity and judgment matter most.

Most recently, I led a regulatory reporting transformation for a major insurer: rebuilt the entire closing process, cut month-end cycles by 40%, and embedded controls that satisfied both internal audit and external regulators on first review. Before that, I managed a €50M+ finance systems migration while keeping operations running—no downtime, full compliance, delivered three months early.

I'm strongest on interim or project-based mandates where I can focus entirely on delivery without org politics. I work as an independent consultant, which means I move fast and own outcomes completely. The tradeoff: I'm not looking for permanent employment right now, though I'm open to extended missions that matter.

Let's talk if the role needs someone who speaks both Finance and IT, who ships on time, and who doesn't need to be managed closely.
