I bring 25 years of insurance and finance expertise—the kind that actually moves complex transformations forward. I'm strongest where technical depth, regulatory constraints, and execution pressure intersect. Think CFO office redesigns, regulatory reporting overhauls, PMO leadership on programmes that matter.

My last three years speak clearly: led a €2M finance process redesign for a mid-cap insurer (cut closing cycle from 15 to 8 days, cut manual controls by 40%), designed and delivered a full regulatory reporting framework migration for a tier-1 group (IFRS 17 + Solvency II prep, 18-month programme, zero delays), and stabilized a fractured PMO function across 12 workstreams for a finance transformation (restored governance, cleared a 6-month backlog in planning). Numbers matter because they show judgment under constraint.

I'm organized as a consulting entity (Expert Zone Advisory SAS) and operate as an interim senior resource—that's my setup, not a drawback. It means you get someone who's done this before, moves fast, and doesn't need onboarding into how insurance works or how delivery actually happens. The trade is flexibility for both of us: I'm not seeking a long-term seat, and you're not paying for bench time.

I'd be worth a conversation if you're running a mission where clarity, discipline, and real finance/insurance knowledge make the difference. Let's talk specifics.
