Re : Head of Corporate Accounting

Running monthly and quarterly closes under both BGAAP and IFRS while rebuilding expense notes, accounts payable and treasury back-office processes for a team of 5 is a specific brief: precision at group reporting level, combined with day-to-day operational grip.

At CNP, I rebuilt investment accounting production under Solvency II constraints, covering 350 billion euros of assets under management, delivered in 18 months and on schedule. That work touched the same technical ground this role needs: IFRS9 impairment analysis (ECL, amortized cost, asset categorization), IFRS17 preparation, and coordination with actuarial, risk and investment teams on methodology.

On the systems side, I led SimCorp Dimension and Clearwater Analytics implementations end to end, from design through cutover, including data migration and clearing of suspense accounts. Closing redesign, control frameworks and reconciliation work were core components of each of these mandates.

Hybrid work has been standard practice for me for years. My last mission at Clearwater ran fully in that mode, so remote collaboration tools and rhythms are not something I need to adjust to.

My background is built on transformation and PMO delivery, not on steady-state line management of a GL/AP/AR team. The technical and regulatory expertise transfers directly; the ongoing people management side is less central to my experience.

Worth a call to see if the fit works both ways?
