Dear Lendys,

I'm writing to express interest in your Senior Consultant role in Reporting and Consolidation for Banking & Insurance.

I've spent 25 years in finance and insurance—entirely in these sectors. Over that time, I've built deep expertise in exactly what you're looking for: consolidated reporting, regulatory compliance (Solvency 2, FINREP, COREP), and the operational side of making these processes actually work at scale. I've done this both in-house and in consulting roles, so I understand both the client perspective and how to deliver as a trusted advisor.

Most recently, I led a full redesign of the consolidation and reporting function for a mid-sized insurance group—reworked the operating model, redesigned controls, implemented new systems, and cut the monthly close cycle by 30%. I've also managed multiple regulatory reporting implementations, including the shift to Solvency 2 metrics for group and solo entities. Numbers matter here: I've consistently delivered on time, within scope, and with teams that stayed engaged because the work was structured and clear.

I bring something specific: I'm equally comfortable with the technical detail (restatements, intercompany flows, IFRS adjustments) and the organizational side (stakeholder alignment, process optimization, change management). I speak both the language of compliance and operations.

One thing worth noting: I'm currently independent. I'm genuinely interested in a CDI role where I can build something at Lendys and stay for the long term. I'm not looking to rotate clients every 18 months.

I'd welcome a conversation about how my experience maps to your pipeline of missions.

Best regards,

Xavier Robitaille
