I bring 25 years of insurance and finance experience to roles where technical depth, regulatory clarity, and execution discipline matter most. My background sits at the intersection of complex transformation, PMO delivery, and stakeholder alignment—the place where most value gets created or lost.

Over the last decade, I've led finance operating model redesigns and regulatory reporting overhauls for mid-sized insurers and financial services firms. One example: I helped restructure the closing process for a €2B+ insurance operation, cutting month-end cycles by 35% while strengthening controls and audit readiness. Another: I managed a multi-year IFRS 17 implementation program across three countries, coordinating actuarial, IT, and finance teams through regulatory compliance and system migration.

What I do well is translate between worlds. I speak fluent actuarial and finance risk language, work comfortably in PMO governance, and don't flinch when IT and operations teams disagree on scope. I deliver rigor without theater.

I work as an independent consultant right now, which gives flexibility but also means I'm hunting for mission-driven work where I can add genuine leverage. I'm open to interim, fixed-term, or advisory roles depending on the challenge.

If you have a transformation, regulatory shift, or delivery crunch where you need someone who knows the insurance playbook and won't waste time on meetings, let's talk. My calendar is open.
