

Syndicate Financial Controller

August 19, 2026

Re : Une nouvelle offre d'emploi correspond à vos préférences.

A market leading specialty underwriter is building a newly created syndicate finance lead role: full ownership of the financial control framework, Lloyd's and Group and BMA reporting, and SOX compliance, with a mandate to move the finance function forward on systems and process. That is the environment where I want to put this experience to work.

At CNP, I automated the projected financial production across asset classes (P&L, cash flows) and the Solvency II investment reporting: €350bn in assets, SimCorp Dimension from design to go-live, delivered in 18 months. That work called for the same discipline a syndicate finance function needs: accurate inputs, a defensible methodology, and a system that produces regulatory output on a fixed timetable.

At Coface, I rolled out IFRS 9 in stages over four years: successive proofs of concept, the ECL methodology, the accounting schemes, UAT, and coordination with the depository CACEIS. I also built the investment Data Warehouse there, defining the fields, table structure, and input and output controls. Both projects combine financial control, regulatory reporting and system change, the mix this role covers.

As senior programme director at Clearwater Analytics, I ran several parallel implementations of a SaaS R2R solution, with monthly sponsor committees at executive level and consolidated tracking of deliverables, milestones and resources on a dedicated tool, Monday.com. That is the same posture this role calls for: presenting complex financial information to senior stakeholders while keeping several workstreams under control at once.

Four years at SCOR, two of them as chief transformation officer of the investment function, gave me the reinsurance and specialty market grounding this role sits in.

I operate as an independent consultant today. Nevertheless, I am perfectly open to a permanent role, directly or after an initial engagement period.

I would be happy to discuss how this experience applies to the syndicate's reporting and control agenda.

Best regards,

Xavier Robitaille