Dear Harmony Group,

I'm applying for the Digital Insurance Transformation Consultant role because my 25 years in insurance —entirely in transformation, finance operations, and regulatory complexity—align directly with what you're building.

What I bring: I've spent my career at the intersection where strategy meets execution. I've led operating model redesigns for major insurers, translated regulatory requirements into live systems, and designed customer journeys across claims, policy administration, and onboarding. I work fluently across the three worlds your projects demand: business strategy, IT delivery, and the compliance/actuarial constraints that make insurance hard. I'm a facilitator who can move from ideation to design to implementation oversight—the full arc.

Proof: For a top-10 European insurer, I restructured their claims processing operating model, mapped the customer journey end-to-end, and guided the development team through a 18-month build that cut claims cycle time by 35% and halved backoffice headcount. On another mandate, I translated a digital strategy into a target operating model for a life insurance player expanding into Employee Benefits—that included technology selection, process redesign, and governance structure.

I work as an independent consultant through Expert Zone Advisory. I'm comfortable moving into a consulting firm structure because I'm here for the work and the craft, not the title. Your focus on embedding yourself in insurer communities while pushing real transformation—not just recommendations—resonates.

Happy to explore fit over the next two weeks.

Best,

Xavier Robitaille
