

Dear Capco Hiring Team,

I'm writing to express interest in the Management Consultant role within your Insurance practice. After 25 years in insurance transformation—working across underwriting, claims, regulatory reporting, and IT modernisation—I see a direct alignment between your London Market mandate and where I deliver the most impact.

What sets me apart is that I don't consult about insurance operations; I've lived them. I've led major transformation programmes at the intersection of business and technology: redesigning process workflows under regulatory constraint, building PMO governance for multi-workstream delivery, and translating data strategy into operational change. This background means I understand the specific complexity of Lloyd's and Companies Market entities—the tension between syndicate autonomy and market-wide modernisation, the technical debt in legacy e-trading systems, the regulatory pressure driving change.

On a recent three-year engagement, I restructured the finance function for a large mutual insurer, delivering a £2.3m operating cost reduction while strengthening controls and implementing a new data governance framework. I led the full cycle—strategy design through delivery—working directly with underwriting, claims, and IT leads to unblock execution. That combination of strategic clarity and hands-on delivery credibility is rare.

I'll be direct: I'm currently independent. I thrive on permanent roles where I can build deeper stakeholder relationships and see transformations through. Capco's hybrid model and the scope here appeal to me for that reason.

I'd welcome a conversation about how my experience in London Market modernisation and programme delivery can accelerate your practice growth.

Best regards,

Xavier Robitaille
