I bring 25 years of insurance and finance expertise—the kind that's hard to find in one person. I combine technical depth in regulatory reporting and financial controls with the operational delivery skills (PMO, AMOA) needed to actually move complex transformations forward. I work best where technical requirements, compliance constraints, and organizational complexity intersect, and where execution discipline matters.

My last three engagements show the pattern. I restructured the financial close process for a mid-cap insurer, cutting month-end delivery from 12 to 6 days while tightening control frameworks for Solvency II reporting—a 50% efficiency gain without cutting corners on compliance. Before that, I led PMO on a €15M operating model redesign across Finance and Operations for a large mutual, managing stakeholder alignment across actuarial, regulatory, and IT teams over 18 months. Most recently, I've been advising on CFO office transformation, building governance structures and financial frameworks for two insurance groups navigating post-acquisition integration.

I work as an independent consultant through Expert Zone Advisory, which gives me flexibility to move between assignments and stay current. If you're looking for a full-time role, I'm open to discussing that—I just want to be clear about it upfront rather than discover misalignment later.

I'd like to understand what you're solving for. Let's schedule 30 minutes so I can ask the right questions and you can see how I think.
