I'm a senior consultant with 25 years in insurance and finance—my entire career. I've built a track record in exactly what you need: transformation delivery that sticks, with real grip on the business side and IT dependencies.

You're looking for someone to orchestrate IARD transformation across silos. I've done this repeatedly —most recently leading a €50M claims operating model redesign across three countries, where I sat between Finance, Actuariat, Operations, and IT to align conflicting roadmaps and keep delivery on track. Before that, I redesigned the closing process for a €2B insurance portfolio, cutting month-end cycle time by 35% while tightening controls. What matters: I don't just design—I see where friction actually lives and I clear it.

I know the IARD space. I've worked regulatory reporting, reserving governance, and distribution economics. I speak the language of both the business and the people building systems. That matters when you're trying to move fast without breaking things.

One honest point: I've worked as an independent consultant. I've moved fluidly between interim CFO roles, PMO leadership, and transformation stream work. I perform in high-visibility delivery situations where clarity and execution discipline are what you're actually buying. If you're looking for someone to own the IARD stream and drive change through a real matrix, I can do that. If you need someone to stay in one lane, this might not be the fit.

Let's talk. I'm clear about what value I can add and what doesn't work for you.
