

Clearwater Analytics

August 5, 2026

Re : Global Delivery Division Lead

Clearwater Analytics's Global Delivery division runs dozens of onboarding programs in parallel across EMEA, and each one needs an escalation point who can hold an executive steering committee's confidence while keeping milestones on track. That is the environment where I want to put this experience to work.

As senior programme director for several Clearwater Analytics implementations, I led parallel deployments of an R to R SaaS solution, including for the Luxembourg-based client Luxempart, with monthly executive-level sponsor steering committees and consolidated management of deliverables, milestones and resources on a dedicated tool (Monday.com). That work covered the same multi-stakeholder, multi-program coordination this role calls for, directly on Clearwater's own platform.

At CNP, I automated the projected financial production across asset classes (P&L, cash flows) and the Solvency II investment reporting: €350bn in assets, SimCorp Dimension from design to go-live, delivered in 18 months. That is the kind of large-scale program, on a fixed timeline, this division needs when client demand spikes.

Earlier, at Primexis, I built the Assurance business unit from scratch: 20 people, 10 clients, €3m in revenue, as a member of the Executive Committee. Recruiting, retaining and growing a team of that size, while answering to senior leadership, is not new to me.

I operate as an independent consultant today. Nevertheless, I am perfectly open to a permanent role, directly or after an initial engagement period.

I would be happy to discuss how this experience applies to leading Clearwater's EMEA Global Delivery division.

Best regards,

Xavier Robitaille