I bring 25 years of deep insurance and finance expertise directly into your transformation challenges—not as a generalist consultant, but as someone who has actually sat in PMO, AMOA, and CFO Office roles where regulatory constraints, technical complexity, and delivery pressure converge.

Your Financial Services sector needs someone who speaks both business and operations. I've led process redesigns and operating model transformations for major insurance players, delivering real efficiency gains while managing stakeholder alignment across Finance, Actuariat, IT, and Risk functions simultaneously. In one recent mandate, I restructured a regulatory reporting framework and redesigned the close process for a mid-cap insurer—reducing cycle time by 30% while strengthening control rigor. That's the kind of outcome-focused delivery you're looking for in a Senior Consultant.

What makes this role compelling for me: Square Management's approach—combining strategic clarity with rigorous operational execution, plus your embedded Research Center—aligns with how I work. You're not just advising; you're building methods that stick. That resonates.

One honest note: I've been freelance for several years through Expert Zone Advisory. A return to structured team consulting with real depth in a sector (not breadth across many) appeals to me now. I'm looking for the right partnership, not just the next contract.

I'd welcome a conversation about how my track record in banking and insurance transformation fits your client pipeline.
