Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to express my interest in the Consultant Insurance / Financial Services role at Deloitte Cologne.

I bring 25 years of insurance and financial services experience—every day of my career in this sector. As an independent consultant, I've spent the last decade embedded in transformation programmes where audit, compliance, and regulatory reporting intersect with operational complexity. This is precisely where your Financial Services audit practice operates.

My most relevant recent work: I led the financial close redesign for a mid-sized insurance group, reducing month-end closing cycles by 40% while implementing Solvency II-compliant controls across three entities. In parallel, I designed the governance framework for a group-wide audit programme involving actuarial, financial, and operational streams—the kind of cross-functional orchestration your team description emphasises. I've also spent time as interim Finance Manager in two insurers, which gave me unfiltered visibility into how audit findings land (or don't) with front-line operations.

I understand the honest tradeoff: I'm joining as an independent consultant, not an employee seeking career progression at Deloitte. What this means in practice is that you get someone whose entire motivation is delivery excellence and client impact—no distraction by internal politics or promotion cycles. I'm comfortable being part of a team, taking direction, and staying embedded on complex, multi-phase mandates.

I'm based in France but available to work on-site in Cologne on a flexible freelance contract basis. I'd welcome a conversation about how this engagement could work for both sides.

Best regards,

Xavier Robitaille
