

Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to express my interest in the PMO & Value Management Lead role at Arch Insurance.

For 25 years I've worked exclusively in insurance and finance—the last decade managing exactly what this role requires: running dual PMO and portfolio governance functions while line-managing small, high-performing teams. I understand the specific tension this role sits in: simultaneously driving delivery discipline on live programmes while establishing the portfolio-level processes and financial controls that prove transformation value actually lands.

Most recently, I led PMO and AMOA functions for a major insurer's regulatory reporting transformation—a three-year, multi-workstream programme with direct CFO Office visibility. I designed the governance framework, built the reporting dashboard (cost tracking, benefits realisation against business case, OKR alignment), and managed a team covering delivery control and financial tracking. The programme delivered on time, within budget, and the benefits realization process we embedded is still running 18 months post-launch. That experience taught me that value management isn't an exercise in spreadsheets—it's about embedding discipline early so stakeholders see what they'll actually get, and then holding that line.

I operate well in collaborative, fast-moving environments where complexity requires judgment. I'm equally comfortable in the technical detail (designing controls, setting up reporting tooling, coaching PMO teams) and in the boardroom (translating investment impact for executives, arbitrating between competing priorities).

One honest note: I'm an independent consultant, currently through my own advisory firm. I'm actively exploring both contract and permanent roles in London. If the hiring timeline or contract length matters for your decision, I'm happy to discuss.

I'd welcome a conversation about how I can strengthen Arch's transformation governance from day one. You can reach me at xro@xavier-robitaille.com or +33 6 64 89 09 43.

Best regards,
