

Dear Hiring Manager,

Why this role fits

Twenty-five years in insurance finance and transformation gave me both the technical depth and the delivery discipline RSM's clients need. I've spent my career exactly where this role operates—at the intersection of accounting rigor, regulatory constraint, and operational complexity. I know the sector's pain points because I've solved them repeatedly.

What I bring

I've led finance transformation programs for major insurance groups, redesigning closing processes, implementing control frameworks, and steering large-scale ERP migrations (SAP, Oracle). Most recently, I managed a portfolio of regulatory reporting and operational efficiency projects for insurers facing IFRS 17 and Solvency II changes. The consistent outcome: tighter controls, faster closes, and teams that actually understand what changed and why.

The shift

I'm moving from freelance advisory into a permanent consulting role. Twenty-five years as a senior independent consultant means I know how to work autonomously, manage ambiguity, and deliver without hand-holding. It also means I'm ready for the team environment and institutional momentum that a firm like RSM offers. I'm looking for a place where technical excellence and human collaboration aren't competing values.

Next step

I'd like to discuss how my insurance transformation background can accelerate your clients' finance function—especially on the closing redesign and regulatory reporting challenges they're facing. I'm available for a call at your earliest convenience.

Best regards,
Xavier Robitaille
