I've spent 25 years in insurance and finance transformation, and I recognize what you're actually hiring for: someone who can translate operational chaos into scaled delivery.

Your role sits exactly where I've added the most value—bridging business reality and technical execution. I've led multi-workstream programs across payment systems, data architecture, and process automation in heavily regulated environments. At Expert Zone Advisory, I've guided insurers and financial institutions through operating model redesigns where the gap between "what we need" and "what IT can build" was the real bottleneck. I know how to close it.

Two concrete examples: I rebuilt a claims payment workflow for a major P&C insurer—modernizing legacy payment rails, automating document routing, and retraining 200+ operators across three countries. Delivered on time. Second: I've spent two years as PMO lead in an insurance group's CFO office, managing portfolios where Agile frameworks had to coexist with regulatory reporting timelines and actuarial constraints. That's your world.

I bring the must-haves: 25+ years in complex, multi-stakeholder environments (beats 7+), hands-on transformation in insurance operations, direct experience with payment systems and large-scale IT implementation, and fluent Dutch and English. Certifications include PRINCE2 and PMI-ACP. I'm comfortable with SAP and scaled Agile governance.

One honest gap: I'm currently independent, not employed. That's actually an advantage for a fixed-term transformation mandate, but I understand if you're building a permanent team. If hybrid and project-based work appeals to you, let's talk.

I'm based in France, comfortable with Benelux travel, and available immediately.
