Re : Investment Director (Remote)

RGG Capital wants an investment director who can run due diligence and macro research inside a lean, direct-access team, with no back-office bureaucracy between analysis and capital deployment. That combination, deep technical judgment plus operational discipline in a small structure, is where my work in insurance and asset management has consistently landed.

At CNP Assurances, I rebuilt the investment accounting production line under Solvency II constraints: 350 billion euros of assets under management, delivered on time over 18 months, with new controls and reconciliation processes that had to satisfy ACPR scrutiny. That work required the same discipline RGG needs for its due diligence trackers and investment memoranda: coordinating actuarial, risk and IT teams around a single, defensible output.

I also led SimCorp Dimension implementations from design to production, covering asset management reporting, ALM and SCR calculations, work that overlaps with the portfolio operations and analytical rigor this role asks for. My actuarial qualification (CEA, 2004) and background in macroeconomics give me the technical grounding for scenario analysis and risk metrics review.

I haven't worked directly on hedge fund or liquid alternatives due diligence, and I don't code in Python. My due diligence experience is built on insurance investment portfolios and regulatory reporting, not manager selection across systematic strategies.

Worth a short call to see if that maps to what RGG needs?
