Re : Accounting & Consolidation Manager

Preparing AXA Group Operations mother company consolidated accounts under IFRS, on a quarterly cycle tight enough to feed Group Consolidation and Group Controlling without slippage, is exactly the kind of closing discipline I've built my last projects around.

At CNP, I rebuilt investment accounting under Solvency II constraints for 350 billion euros in assets under management, delivering in 18 months and hitting every regulatory deadline along the way. That work meant restating statutory positions to IFRS 9 categorization and amortized cost logic, keeping a full audit trail so every difference could be explained, not just reconciled. On the systems side, I've led general ledger migrations and interface cutovers, writing the cahiers des charges, running UAT, and building OD entries in VBA when manual controls were the only way to close the gap between old and new platforms. That same rigor applies directly to extracting trial balances and defending IFRS restatements line by line.

I haven't worked with SAP BFC Financial Consolidation (Magnitude) or S/4HANA specifically. My general ledger and consolidation tool experience sits mostly on SimCorp Dimension and Clearwater Analytics, though the restatement logic and audit-trail discipline transfer directly.

Happy to walk through how this maps onto the IFRS consolidation scope on a call.
