With 25 years in insurance and finance transformation, I've spent my career exactly where this role lives: translating operational complexity into delivery. I led program redesigns for insurers handling millions in daily transactions, rebuilt payment and collection workflows under regulatory pressure, and aligned business units with IT teams who spoke different languages. That's the work Allianz needs done.

Most recently, I've managed large-scale transformations where the real challenge wasn't the technology—it was orchestrating stakeholders across functions and borders, clarifying what "done" meant, and shipping results on schedule. I've designed payment system migrations, rebuilt data governance frameworks, and implemented process automation across P&C operations. I know SAP, I know scaled Agile (SAFe), and I know what it takes to keep a multidisciplinary team accountable when deadlines matter.

I speak Dutch and English fluently, I hold PRINCE2 and Agile certifications, and I'm comfortable working across the Benelux and beyond. The hybrid model and regional scope suit how I work best.

One honest thing: I've been independent for the last decade, moving between interim and consulting roles. I'm now looking for a role with real weight and continuity—where I can own a domain, build a team, and see transformation through. This position is that. Allianz's scale, the P&C focus, the mandate across Benelux—this is where I want to plant myself.

I'm ready to talk through how my track record maps to your roadmap. Let's schedule a call.
