Re : Reinsurance Finance Analyst

Allianz Reinsurance is building a Dublin finance team that goes beyond reporting output: connecting reinsurance transactions to accounting, tax and regulatory treatment across IFRS 17 and Solvency II, and improving how the underlying processes work. That combination of technical depth and process ownership is exactly where I want to put 25 years of experience in reinsurance and insurance finance to work.

At CNP, I automated the projected financial production across asset classes (P&L, cash flows) and the Solvency II investment reporting: €350bn in assets, SimCorp Dimension from design to go-live, delivered in 18 months. That work sat directly at the intersection this role describes: translating regulatory requirements (the Solvency II deliverables: ORSA, RSR/SFCR, QRT) into controlled, scalable production processes rather than manual workarounds.

At Coface, I rolled out IFRS 9 in stages over four years: successive POCs, ECL methodology, accounting schemes, UAT, and coordination with the depository CACEIS. I also built an investment Data Warehouse there, defining fields, table structure and input/output controls, which is the kind of data and process ownership this role calls for. Four years at SCOR, including two as chief transformation officer of the investment function, gave me the reinsurance-specific view of how commercial substance and reporting requirements need to connect, working across cedents, retrocessionaires and Group stakeholders. I completed the full examination track of the Centre d'Études Actuarielles in 2004, which gives me the technical grounding to challenge actuarial and finance assumptions rather than just process them.

I am certified in Generative AI Primer (Vanderbilt, 2026) and GenAI for Account Executives (Yale, 2026), and I now automate most of my own consulting work through AI agents under Claude and GPT, which fits the role's emphasis on AI-supported process improvement. Distributed, hybrid delivery is also familiar territory: at Clearwater, I ran multiple SaaS implementations in parallel as senior programme director, with monthly executive-level steering committees and consolidated tracking of deliverables, milestones and resources on Monday.com, all coordinated remotely across teams and locations.

I operate as an independent consultant today. Nevertheless, I am perfectly open to a permanent role, directly or after an initial engagement period.

I would be happy to discuss how this experience applies to Allianz Re Dublin's finance transformation agenda.

Best regards,

Xavier Robitaille
