I'm a finance transformation consultant with 25 years in insurance and banking, and I've spent the last decade delivering OneStream implementations and CPM programmes—exactly what you're looking for.

My background sits at the intersection of technical depth and stakeholder alignment. I've designed and deployed OneStream across planning, consolidation, and financial reporting in enterprise environments, working directly with CFO offices to translate complex finance requirements into scalable solutions. In my most recent engagement, I led a full OneStream redesign for a €2B+ insurance group—discovery through go-live—covering both planning and consolidation workstreams, then supported optimisation across three regional offices. I'm comfortable in the detail (data models, dimension design, automation rules) and equally at ease facilitating workshops with accounting, FP&A, and technology teams to agree on best practice.

I've also spent time mentoring analysts and building delivery discipline across teams, which matters when you're moving between multiple clients at pace. The consulting model—balancing hands-on configuration with advisory strategy—is where I add the most value. I understand finance processes deeply enough to spot where OneStream can genuinely solve problems, rather than just implement features.

One honest note: I've been independent for the past few years, so this is a shift back into a structured consultancy environment. That's intentional on my part—I'm looking for the rigour, the team, and the portfolio scale that comes with a real practice. I'm ready for that commitment.

I'd be happy to walk through specific implementations and how I'd approach your client delivery model.
